

Sociology

• Definition:

Sociology is the science of society. It is defined by William Graham Sumner.

18-19 century
Max Weber :- (contemporary sociologist) → mca
Sociology is the study of social action.

structural functionalism

macro-level
study of society

micro-level
study of society

• Theoretical and search

• conflict, class, religion etc.

3 phases

Symbolic Interaction → Micro-level

• Sociology is the science of social phenomenon.

Franklin Henry Giddins

→ Emile Durkheim

• Sociology is the study of social institution and social facts.

6 marks

Social Institution → 5 Basic

1) family

4) Economy

2) Education

5) Politics

3) Religion

Democracy

- Legislature → Law Making. and
- Executives
- Judiciary

Scope of Study :-

- 1) Research
- 2) Scope in the field of education
- 3) Food, shelter, clothes and health

Scope of sociology in education:-

- 1) Sociology explain the condition and problems of social life.
- 2) Sociology is the subject in colleges and universities
- 3) There are well known institutes, where sociologists are engage in research and teaching works.
- 4) A substantial majority of sociologists teach in one setting or another high schools, 2 year colleges, 4 year colleges or university graduates department.
- 5) Sociology is the rewarding field to convey to others, it combines importance of social relevance, with the rigor of a scientific discipline.
- 6) It is also included in the programs of many professors such as law, education, Business, medicine, Engineering social work and nursing.

Scope in the field of knowledge:-

- 1) Society is the web of social institution and all these institution are interrelated and interlink : & with each other.
- 2) Sociologists have the Basic and primary objective is to build up knowledge about the society and social institution.
- 3) Sociologists are required to gain the know how about the social problems and there solutions.
- 4) The specialized field of sociology which gives to the knowledge to student about different aspect of human life.

Scope of sociology:

- 1) It is a fast growing academic discipline it has developed various sub fields to study different aspect of man's social life.
- 2) Each subfield employs it own approach and techniques.

Assignment Social Interaction + 10 examples of daily life

Social Interaction & Social Action:-

→ Human being need social interaction to run a social life. due to which the relationship of one person with ^{an} other person is established. Man play many roles within a society. He also performs many social activities as per his nature, needs and roles, while performing these social activities or social actions, ~~become~~ he comes into contact with others, this contact or relationship with other change the action of the individual into interaction the behaviour of each individual is affected by the behaviours of others.

• Every Individual

Social Process (assignment leni is Pe)

Types of Social group

→ Primary group

- Primary groups are found in all the societies.
- The Primary group is the nucleus of all social organization
- Its a small group in which few person into direct contact with one another these persons meet face to face for mutual help companionship & discussion of common questions.

→ Secondary group

- large group like a city, political parties, corporations and labour unions, here human contacts become superficial and undefined. They communicate with them by such indirect means as the written words meet no face to face interaction and relations.

Defn

Primary group is a small group in number, direct contact with face to face relations, mutual aims common goals and companionship.

H. T. Mazumdar "when face to face contacts are not present in the relations or numbers we may call that is the secondary group."

characteristics of Primary Group:-

- Dominance of face to face relationship.
- Small size.
- Stability of the Group.
- Similarity of Background.
- limited self interest
- Intensity of shared interests
- Direct communication very quick and effective.
- Direct cooperation.

privileges

→ Similarly power ~~prestige~~ and obligation always differentially distributed in the society by the age of participants.

→ Achieved status is the sociological term denoting a social position that a person requires on the basis of merit.

Subject: Introduction to Sociology

Department of Software Engineering
Total Marks: 18

Time Allowed: 1 Hour

Section – A (Short Questions)

Attempt any three questions. (2 marks each) Total: 6 Marks

1. Define sociology in your own words.
2. What is meant by social interaction?
3. Write any two characteristics of a primary group.
4. What do you understand by social process? give one example.

Section – B (Subjective)

Attempt any 2 questions. (6 marks each) Total: 12 Marks

1. Discuss the scope of sociology with suitable examples.
2. Explain Max Weber's concept of social action & also interrelate with social interaction with examples from daily life.
3. Differentiate between social structure and social group, How do they interrelate in society?

* Note:

Write neat and well-organized answers. Support your responses with relevant examples.